

Elnara Akimova

Doctor of Philology

One name for all victories - National Unity

The political will and power factor exhibited by national leader Heydar Aliyev during all periods of his leadership in Azerbaijan can be called the starting point of the path that led to our Victory.

It is through him that the wave of ideology, historical-ethnic memory, independent state thinking, and the teaching of independence instilled in us the "science of loving the nation" participated in the progress movement of our consciousness, national-spiritual existence and did its job. We couldn't help but be proud when we saw those who rushed to the front line with great love and enthusiasm and were ready to sacrifice their lives for the territorial integrity of the homeland in the second Karabakh war. Here, being a Turk means to be willing to fight for the homeland from the beginning! To challenge the world, to die and be born a thousand times "for the sake of a crescent"! It was reported that the nation there are different stages of the path of being, living whole in memory and practice. In the 1990s, as a nation, we crossed this path with national leader Heydar Aliyev.

The stage that, after the unprecedented spiritual, moral and political degradation, emerged as a savior and created harmony between the harmony of time and the stability of spiritual and moral values.

In the last thirty years or so, much, perhaps everything, has changed in the world's pantheon of governance: the man-made civilization has exhausted itself, the element of global hardship and evil, anti-human thinking has emerged, racist philosophies, vulgar Western "humanism" games, and sectarian wars have all come to the fore. proved that it will not work. Beauty did not save the world, science did not bear fruit, perfection did not win.

In such a seismic zone where global and geopolitical interests collide, the ruler of the anti-nature and anti-human world cult - at a time when it is inevitable, moreover, almost utopian to a problem like Karabakh and at a time when the vision of the apocalypse is intensifying, to gather and sign a historical turn in the destiny of our nation was the word of President Ilham Aliyev's political competence, the power of the state on the scale of thinking and intellect, which suddenly hit the gray faces like a slap.

He put the criterion of national destiny in front of all kinds of artificial, so-called laws and stereotypes, statements devoid of perspective.