

Gazanfar Pashayev

Doctor of Philology, Professor

Nostradamus' vision about the Karabakh war

I present to the readers the quatrains that are of great importance for today, which are included in my book "The Wonderful World of Nostradamus" (Baku, "Tahsil", 2007, 176 p.), which I have been working on for many years.

THE DISPUTE WILL BE RESOLVED IN OUR FAVOR

Those whose hair is shaved short (buttheads) are from the gun they will be deprived.

Foreign researchers admit that modern Azerbaijan and Albanian are meant when they say "Albania". Nostradamus scholar Bardo Kidogo writes: "When people say Albania, for some reason people think of the Balkans. This perception is not correct. In fact, both ancient history and Nostradamus indicate that (be sure to see: 5 k91), Albania is the region between the Caucasus and Iran, now known as Azerbaijan". [1]

Researcher John Hogue and others agree. John Hogue writes: "Ancient Albania is the Transcaucasian region". Katren talks about the Armenian-Azerbaijani conflict that took place in the 90s of the 20th century. In April-June 1993, Armenian army units won a decisive victory and captured Nagorno-Karabakh from Azerbaijan. In the mid-90s, the Azerbaijan-Armenia conflict subsided. [2]

By the way, let's note that all travelers and researchers, including Ptolemy, Strabo, Plutarch, and Ptolemy, Strabo, and Plutarch, who participated in Pompey's march to the Caucasus, meant the territory of present-day Azerbaijan and indicated that Albanians are the ancestors of Azerbaijanis.

The Karabakh conflict is familiar to everyone. It is known that on the eve of the conflict, the Russians took the hunting rifle from the hands of the Azerbaijanis. Due to the lack of necessary ammunition and modern weapons, the conflict did not end, as shown in the quatrain. But later, when the Azerbaijani army, which acquired weapons from other countries, attacked in the Fuzuli-Jabrayil direction with lightning speed and liberated many places, the Armenians began to flee in panic. Russian President Boris Yeltsin (Drinker) appealed to the leadership of Azerbaijan and promised to resolve the issue without bloodshed. Sozarasi also mentioned that Russia has a military agreement with Armenia. Although a truce was signed, the conflict was not resolved.